

Bay Area TECHWIRE

The Business of Technology

January 7, 2008

Briefly Noted

(San Francisco) San Francisco-based CaseCentral, a developer of electronic discovery tools used by large companies and law firms, on Monday named Tom Thimot as its new CEO. He replaces founding CEO Chris Kruse, who will remain chairman of the board. Thimot most recently led Kazeon Systems, and previously served as the president and CEO at GoRemote Internet Communications.

<http://www.casecentral.com>

<http://biz.yahoo.com/bw/080107/20080107005525.html?.v=1>